

MAN OF THE YEAR

CAPTAIN HUGH MULZAC

Symbolic of a healthy year's progress was his naming to the command of one of the great fleet of Liberty ships plowing the high seas with cargoes of death to be used against the Axis. He took command of a mixed crew manning the S.S. Booker T. Washnigton, which was launched by Marian Anderson on the West Coast.

THE FAMOUS DR. CARVER AND HIS ASSISTANT

themselves at a table in the kitchenette of the Carver memorial home in Greenfield Village, Mich. This home was built for Dr. Carver by his friend, Henry Ford. Each log was taken from a different State and the name of the wood and State is carved in each log.
