PHILOSOPHY AND OBJECTIVES

Oakwood College is a coeducational Christian school maintained by the Seventh-day Adventist Church and operated as a training school for higher education. As a liberal arts college, Oakwood emphasizes the intellectual activity of the student and includes the divisions of Applied Sciences, Behavioral Sciences, Education, Humanities, Natural Sciences and Mathematics, Religion and Theology, and Social Sciences.

As a Christian liberal arts college Oakwood College directs its effort to the "proper development of character, that the individual may be fitted rightly to discharge the duties of the present life, and to enter at last upon future, immortal life."

Therefore the curriculum of Oakwood College must be geared to the development of a complete integrated personality which connotes physical, social, and moral soundness.

Oakwood College builds the offerings around the philosophy that "true education means more than the pursual of a certain course of study. It means more than the preparation for the life that now is. It has to do with the whole being . . . It is the harmonious development of the physical, the mental, and the spiritual powers. It prepares the student for the joy of service in this world, and for the higher joy of wider service in the world to come."—Education, p. 13

OBJECTIVES

In harmony with this philosophy of education, the administration and faculty of Oakwood College have defined its objectives as follows:

SPIRITUAL:

The divine purpose for man's development is to reflect fully the long-lost image of Divinity. To achieve this object, the student must receive a training that places the proper emphasis on strength of character, nobility of ambition, keenness of perception, and sound judgment. Thus the student is led to a happy solution of the great problem of life and destiny, and is inspired to a life of love, purity, and service to God and man.

INTELLECTUAL:

Consonant with the divine plan of education, the College purposes to develop within its students certain attitudes and abilities conducive to independent and creative thinking; to further acquaint them with the basic facts and principles of the major fields of knowledge, together with a more intensive concentration in one or more of these fields. The College seeks further to help the student develop competence and effectiveness in writing and speaking the English language; to encourage an unbiased attitude on controversial issues; and to motivate within the student a persistent and continuing intellectual curiosity.

SOCIAL:

As an integral part of the total development of the student, the College endeavors to develop in its youth desirable personalities, refined tastes, and correct usage of social graces which will prepare them for participation in social and recreational activities.

PHYSICAL:

The physical education program of the College attempts to give each student an intelligent understanding of the standards which govern the function and care of the body. It seeks also to establish in the student a consistency in the observance of habits and practices which engender a maximum physical vitality and health. Emphasis is placed on the proper use of leisure time, either through some activity worthy of physical development or in some physical education enterprise given under supervision.

VOCATIONAL:

Oakwood College endeavors to teach its students the dignity of labor, to train them in practical work which will enable them to cope with life situations, to impart skill and knowledge in certain vocations best suited to the student's interest and aptitudes, and to offer professional and pre-professional courses which will aid the students in their choice of a vocation.

The public relations officer works under the president. His responsibilities and duties are as follows:

In Relation to Publication

1. To submit college news to nearby newspapers.
2. To issue news releases to other newspapers such as reports to hometown papers of student activities when the local student is concerned in some special way.

3. To prepare special releases from time to time for denominational publications.

In Relation to the College

1. To plan, in conjunction with the president, the business manager, and the directors, the off-campus tours of college musical organizations in such a manner as to produce the maximum good will for the college.
2. To handle advertising and publicity for college organizations by sending out advance advertising, newspaper and radio releases, and church announcements, together with necessary photographs and "mat" materials.
3. To plan, in consultation with the business manager, the program of college advertising in yearbooks, denominational magazines, etc.
4. To be responsible for producing copy and layout, and for arranging necessary photographic and art work.
5. To plan, in consultation with the president, for college representation at campmeetings and other large gatherings of Seventh-day Adventists, arranging picture exhibits, faculty representation, and student participation in public exercises at these meetings.
6. To assist the president in arranging for visits by members of the college staff in the interest of student solicitations.
7. To be responsible for the preparation of such leaflets, booklets, folders, and picture books as may be necessary to represent the college property.
8. To provide a monthly column of news to the Southern Tidings for publication in the Oakwood College section of that paper.
9. To arrange, publicize, and schedule off-campus programs and entertainment for use in churches and schools.
10. To answer, and so far as possible to fill, off-campus requests for special services from Oakwood College, such as the participation of musicians and speakers in church services and before club groups.
11. To arrange, in cooperation with campus groups specifically concerned, for the welcoming of visitors to the campus by "welcome" placards, arrangements for accommodations, and the general extension of college hospitality to the visitors.
12. To plan, in cooperation with persons designated by the president, for College Day exercises.
13. To attempt to counter adverse publicity received by the college. Since the "suppression" of news is rarely successful and carries a connotation of "shame," the public relations director should seek, rather, to present the college in the best possible light without antagonizing individuals or newspapers by refusing to give information. He must be certain, however, that any damaging information is accurate in fact and that all pertinent facts are reported in such a way as to minimize any undesirable effects.

14. To publicize the accomplishments of the college or its staff members.
15. To observe, on or off college campus, any real or potential sources of bad publicity for the College, and to call these to the attention of appropriate administration officials.
16. To conduct publicity campaigns when it is necessary to have full community cooperation in any specific college endeavor.
17. To promote the functions of beauty, comfort, safety, and sanitation as important factors in the school plant which contribute to good public relations.

In Relation to the Public

1. To encourage adequate liaison between the college and parents and constituents with a view to keeping them informed on the progress of their students, and, in some degree, personalizing the abstract idea of "The College."
2. To make it known that the purpose of public relations is to bring a harmonious working relationship between the school and the public which the school serves.

In Relation to the Alumni

To cooperate with the Oakwood College Alumni Association in maintaining contact with college alumni.

THE DIRECTOR OF COUNSELING AND GUIDANCE

The director of counseling and guidance is directly responsible to the president. His responsibilities and duties are as follows:

1. To have general oversight of the personnel work of the college. To serve as chairman of the personnel committee and director of counseling and to be ready to give counsel and guidance to students as designed by student or counselor.
2. To direct the personnel program, including the orientation of freshmen and direct the clinical counseling of poorly adjusted students.
3. To devise and effect types of record cards and folders for personnel work throughout the entire college offerings and services.
4. To initiate research activities to be carried out by the counselor.
5. To cooperate with the Academic Dean in setting up a program of entrance and placement testing for college freshmen, and a continuing program of clinical or remedial testing for students with adjustment problems.
6. To direct the administering of placement, psychometric, and personality tests.

THE COUNSELING PROGRAM

One recent development in the educational policies is the emphasis upon guidance and counseling. Since the main objectives of education are not a mechanical accumulation of facts in various fields, but the development of proper attitudes and character traits that will make for abundant living in this world and preparation for abundant living in the world to come, it has been felt that the student particularly needs in the growing complexity of educational offerings, and in social, economic, and spiritual complexities, proper guidance to enable him to reach the objectives of Christian education. The student of today lives in a world that is growing increasingly complex in its educational offerings, and in its social, economic, and spiritual fields. He, therefore, needs guidance to help him develop into the well-rounded adult—physically, mentally, socially, and spiritually.

“A full-scale personnel program includes the following: (1) a freshman orientation program to acquaint the student with the college community, to afford him social and academic information and contacts, and to give him pre-enrollment, academic advising, and study helps; (2) continued advisement concerning curricula, activities, academic achievement, vocation, personal goals and problems; (3) individual testing; (4) counseling and psychotherapy for the poor achievers and emotionally disturbed; (5) opportunities for participation in social life, activities, and student government; (6) remedial reading, speech and English, and how-to-study clinic; (7) social and recreational program; (8) occupational information; and (9) student employment, loans, scholarships, and placement after graduation.”*

In view of the preceding quotations, guidance is not the concern of a few individuals known as guidance specialists, but of the entire school. The personnel services of the deans, of the counselor, of the teacher, of the work supervisors, and of any member of the staff are integrated into the counseling work of the entire school.

The responsibilities and duties of the counselor are as follows:

1. To counsel with the individual counselee.
2. To help the counselee solve his problems.
3. To help the counselee take five steps essential in solving any problem:
  - a. To recognize the problem and desire a solution.
  - b. To face squarely all the facts, past and present, that bear.
  - c. To sense all the possible solutions to the problem and perhaps make a list of these possibilities.
  - d. To evaluate or criticize the possible solutions to the problem on the basis of critical thinking or actual testing on the proposal.
  - e. To accept or reject each proposal until one has been chosen.
4. To assist the counselee to the place where he will be able to solve his own problems.
5. To strive for preventive action rather than curative action.

**Current Issues in Higher Education*, 1954 (Association for Higher Education, Washington, D. C.)

6. To assist the counselee to develop proper habits and attitudes in his association with any penalties that may be assessed.
7. To suggest to the director of counseling areas in which he recognizes a need for study and research.
8. To cultivate an understanding, objective, nonevaluating attitude.
9. To help the student perceive and accept responsibility.
10. To help the student cultivate efficient study habits.
11. To learn thoroughly the data about his counselee so that he will understand the background needs of the counselee.
12. To write to the parents of the counselee from time to time.
13. To give to the dean of the college and other staff members pertinent information concerning the counselee.
14. To encourage the counselee to take advantage of all the college opportunities which will afford development of the mind, body, and spirit, and thus to encourage active participation in co-curricular activities.
15. To see that the student understands thoroughly the philosophy underlying Christian education and the objectives of the college.
16. To hold an occasional group-meeting such as breakfast, picnic, informal "tea," and an evening "get together."
17. To observe the counselee on all occasions: on the campus, in activities, and in class.
18. To stop and speak to counselees when he meets them on the campus.
19. To assist the counselee in developing habits which will promote his spiritual advancement.

PROFESSIONAL ETHICS FOR THE CHRISTIAN TEACHER*

“As a member of one of the most responsible and respected of professions, the teacher is pledged to a standard of behavior that is above

*Suggested for use in the Journal of True Education, Vol. 17, No. 3, February, 1955, and adopted by the Oakwood College Faculty to be a substitute for the Code of Ethics adopted in the year 1953-1954.

reproach and that adds luster to his vocation. The Christian teacher, above and beyond the claims that society makes upon teachers in general, must exemplify and advocate the virtues that have come to be associated with the profession and the practice of Christianity as a personal dynamic force and a way of life.

“More specifically, the Christian teacher in the church-related school will regard as valid in his personal behavior code these commitments:

In General

1. To practice wholeheartedly and consistently the things he professes and believes.
2. To reverence the Word of God, and to respect the house of God and the church, which is the constituency of the Christian school.
3. To recognize as fundamental, and to practice to the best of his ability, the principles of morality comprehended in the Decalogue and exemplified in the life and teaching of the Master.
4. To have a high sense of loyalty to the aims and ideals of Christian education, particularly to the philosophy of education upon which has been built the Seventh-day Adventist system of schools.
5. To recognize the brotherhood of man and the right of equality of opportunity to all according to their ability, without discrimination on account of race, religion, or social antecedents.
6. To defend and practice freedom of the mind as a precious heritage of Christianity and Christian education, while at the same time recognizing the compatibility of academic freedom with the following obligations:
  - a. To regulate his life by the Christian canons of truthfulness, decency, loyalty, moral integrity, and good taste.
  - b. To be a good and conscientious citizen, recognizing no higher loyalty than that due his country and people, except that due to God.
  - c. To support, by conduct and teaching, the published and generally recognized objectives and standards of the school whose employ he has voluntarily entered.
  - d. To refrain, even off the campus and in private life, from any expression that would cast reflection upon the school, by imperiling its reputation or compromising its aims and principles, because of his connection with it.

To the Profession

7. To look upon Christian teaching as a holy vocation.
8. To exhibit a lively and congenial interest in developing the edge of truth whether the search for it be in his own field or in those of associates.
9. To accept the responsibility of acquaintance with the major fields of human knowledge and of familiarity with those related to his own field of study.
10. To seek the highest possible standard of excellence in his chosen field of specialization.

11. To maintain and be subject to sound scholastic standards in (a) course requirements; (b) teaching methods; (c) examinations, and other criteria of achievement, as may be determined by united faculty actions, or by commonly accepted standards of his profession.
12. To broaden his horizons by participating in the activities of professional groups, by cultivating acquaintance with distinguished scholars, and by taking the initiative in attending workshops and conventions dealing with his field of study.
13. To develop to the maximum of his teaching methods and techniques, always for the purpose of rendering more effective service to his students.

To His Colleagues

14. To give encouragement and moral support to his associates on the staff of the school so far as conscience and the best interests of the school permit, and when he can no longer approve the attitudes or activities of a colleague, that he use means and the method to protect the interests of the school similar to those used in the church.
15. To refrain, at all times and in all cases, from any form of unfair competition with his colleagues for position, rank, honor, students or other advantages of any sort.
16. To secure permission and give full credit for the use of materials borrowed from colleagues or others and used in his lectures, publications, or other public presentations.
17. To give due recognition to lines of authority and to duties and responsibilities assigned to other staff members and to the functions of administrators, refusing to curry favor with students, or to build himself up with other staff members by playing the role assigned to another, or assuming, without authority, the toga of the administration.

To His Students

18. To recognize his obligation to meet promptly and faithfully his appointments with classes, with individual students, and with student groups.
19. To maintain such health of body and mind, and such habits of study, as will make him a vitalizing and inspiring force, a living fountain, as he moves among the young people.
20. To cultivate friendly relations with the students, without undue familiarity and sentimentality.
21. To allow students freedom to express their views and the assurance of careful and objective consideration of opinions expressed by them.
22. To be alert and loyal to the best interests of the student body and the school by reporting to the proper disciplinary agencies all cases of student dishonesty or other misconduct seriously detrimental to the aims or standards of the school.
23. To hold in professional confidence the ideas, needs, weaknesses,

24. To give due credit for the use of original student contributions in his lectures and publications, as he would for materials borrowed from colleagues and other sources, and under no circumstances to exploit his students.
  25. To recognize individual differences among students and seek to meet their individual needs.
  26. To discuss controversial issues from as fair and unbiased a viewpoint as possible, seeking to develop in the student the qualities of sound standards, good judgment, fair appraisal, and charity for those holding divergent views.

To the School

27. To demonstrate his loyalty to the institution in which he is employed by scrupulous observance of the regulations, policies, and customs adopted by the board and faculty for staff members, or generally recognized as suitable by his professional associates.
28. To inform himself as to the rules of his institution governing such matters as tenure, rank, promotion, dismissal, leaves for study, and the qualifications of staff members, and to accept the resulting obligations.
29. To participate consistently in the activities and responsibilities of the faculty group, and to accept and carry out to the best of his ability such responsibilities as may be assigned to him by the group.
30. To conduct professional or institutional business through the proper channels.
31. To refrain from discussing confidential and official information with unauthorized persons.
32. To give due notice before a change of position is to be made.
33. To engage in no activity or employment, gainful or gratuitous, that would interfere with the proper performance of his duties as a staff member, impair his professional status or his standing with colleagues, students, the community, or the church."

ACADEMIC FREEDOM AND RESPONSIBILITY

Academic freedom in a college or university maintained by the Seventh-day Adventist Church is defined as the right of a responsible and self-disciplined scholar to investigate, to instruct, and to publish, within the area of his academic competence and faculty appointment. In the proper exercise of this right the administration undertakes to protect him from pressures which would hinder his pursuit of knowledge and its dissemination.

The teacher is entitled to full freedom to pursue study and research germane to his interests and academic appointment, subject to the adequate performance of his total responsibility in the faculty, as agreed between him and the administration.

The teacher is entitled to freedom in the classroom in discussing the subject he has been appointed to teach, and in so doing he undertakes to demonstrate to colleagues and students, in addition to the qualities normally expected in the professional teacher-scholar, a positive endorsement of the particular character and aims of the institution which provides his credentials, and a concern for the spiritual as well as the intellectual needs of the students he is privileged to instruct. Every Seventh-day Adventist teacher has the moral right and professional duty to teach his discipline in harmony with the fundamental teachings of the Bible as officially set forth by the Seventh-day Adventist Church. When the faculty member speaks or acts as a private citizen, he is free from institutional restraints. Since he cannot free himself from consequential influence, he will himself exercise the restraints and self-discipline which society expects from a person in his profession, and he will make every reasonable effort to indicate that he speaks as an individual and not for the institution.

The guarantees and the boundaries of academic freedom and tenure are explicit in the contract between the college and the teacher. The former accepts the responsibility for having and publishing an official statement of educational philosophy and objectives, its own policies on tenure and academic freedom, a faculty-approved code of ethics, and a description of the procedures which a faculty member who thinks himself aggrieved may ask to have set in motion to determine the justice of his claims. The applicant for faculty appointment, on his part, accepts the responsibility for informing himself of his obligations as a guardian of the distinctive character of the institution, as one who personally subscribes to its philosophy and objectives.

When agreement has been reached and the terms of the appointment have been detailed in writing, the acceptance of the appointment by the applicant, and his official appointment to the faculty by the trustees on the recommendation of the president, shall constitute a contractual understanding and relationship, equally binding on both parties.

GENERAL POLICIES RELATING TO THE FACULTY AND STAFF

Recruiting

The president of the college is responsible for the recruiting of staff members. The dean, chairman of divisions of instruction, and other members of the faculty may share this responsibility by making available to the president any information they may possess concerning available candidates for the teaching staff, and the business manager may share this responsibility for industrial and service staff candidates.

The selection of a candidate shall be based upon his entire educational qualifications, that is: his education and training, specialization in his field of knowledge, scholarly achievement, teaching and social personality. The last shall take into account his effectiveness as a teacher of spiritual and moral values, and his capacity as a Christian to inspire others to Christian living. Complete data necessary for evaluating these qualifications of a candidate shall be assembled by the president prior to any serious consideration of the candidate's name by the faculty committee of the board and finally by the board of trustees.

The program of recruiting as set forth in the General Conference Working Policy includes:

- a. Career brochures in denominational endeavor and other literature needed in the program of guidance and screening in our academies and colleges to be provided under the direction of the Department of Education of the General Conference.
- b. Department of elementary education in our college to be made as efficient and attractive as possible in personnel, curriculum, buildings, and equipment.
- c. Scholarships to be provided for the pre-service education of young people who give promise of developing into successful teachers and who agree to enter into contractual agreement with the conference giving assistance.

Appointment

It is customary that recommendation for appointment of new members to the teaching staff be initiated by the chairman of the division. He confers with the dean of academic affairs and the president and makes recommendation to the Board. When the chairmanship of a division becomes vacant, the customary procedure is for the dean of the college and the president to confer regarding a suitable candidate. Once a candidate is selected, the president makes recommendation to the Board as in the case of other instructors.

Continuous Teacher Appointment

1. Teachers who have given satisfactory evidence of their loyalty to denominational standards and teachings, who have given satisfactory proof of their ability as teachers, and who are in agreement with the college's prescribed conditions for continuous appointment may be considered for such appointment. It is to be understood that continuous appointment does not constitute an indeterminate contract until the Board takes specific action placing him on continuous appointment.
2. Teachers who have been appointed in the same college for a minimum of five consecutive years, and whose service record is satisfactory may be placed upon continuous appointment by action of the college board.
3. Teachers who have served a minimum of seven consecutive years in one Seventh-day Adventist college may, upon transfer to another college, become eligible for recommendation for continuous appointment in the employing college after one year of service.

Tenure

A teacher who has been appointed in the same institution for five consecutive years may be placed upon continuous tenure by action of the board of trustees.

Conditions of Employment

1. The terms of appointment (rank, tenure, salary and agreement) are in each case a matter of a written "Statement of Agreement," one copy to be furnished to the appointee, and one to be kept in the permanent file of the Office of the President. The agreement shall not be considered valid until the appointee has acknowledged his acceptance in writing.
2. Unless otherwise specified in the agreement, the time basis of all appointments shall be twelve months, beginning July 1.
3. If the active service of a faculty member is terminated by mutual consent before the end of an academic year, the Board of Trustees (or Executive Committee of the Board) shall make salary adjustments suitable to the particular circumstances under which the service was terminated.
4. The attainment of tenure does not relieve the faculty member of signing the annual "Statement of Agreement," validating his intention of accepting the institution's offer of employment for the ensuing academic year.

Rank

Faculty members shall be classified with the following ranks: Graduate Assistant, Instructor, Assistant Professor, Associate Professor, and Professor.

Academic rank is conferred by vote of the board of trustees. The following minimum standards are recommended:

1. Graduate Assistant: a holder of Bachelor's degree with limited or no teaching experience.
2. Instructor: a holder of Master's degree, a year of graduate study or a minimum of three years' successful teaching experience.
3. Assistant Professor: three years of teaching experience on the college level may be used in lieu of the graduate study and beyond the Master's degree.
4. Associate Professor: a holder of Doctor's degree or equivalent, two years of graduate study and successful teaching experience of several years as assistant professor.
5. Professor: a holder of Doctor's degree, or equivalent, and successful teaching experience as associate professor.

Promotion

Teachers who have given satisfactory evidence of their loyalty to denominational standards and teachings, who have given satisfactory proof of their ability as teachers and who are in agreement with the college's prescribed conditions for promotion may be considered for such promotion.

Promotion Criteria

1. Membership in appropriate learned societies.
2. Participation in professional meetings.
3. Attendance at professional meetings.
4. Offices held in regional or national professional societies.
5. College service on committees and as an official faculty adviser on curricular activities.
6. Community service (evaluate with discretion):
  - a. Public addresses
  - b. Special services: art exhibits, workshops, concerts, institutes, dramatic performances, clinical services, and the like
  - c. Significant community positions
7. Publications of scholarly character in monograph form or in professional periodicals; publication of textbooks, significant articles in the more widely-read periodicals.
8. Listing of an individual faculty member in one or more of such publications as the following: Who's Who in America, Directory of American Scholars, American Men of Science, Leaders in Education.
9. Unpublished research or research activities of a significant nature.
10. Service with or research for a government or other agency.
11. Above all, fulfillment of academic responsibilities (effectiveness in teaching, meeting appointments, reports, professional attitude, etc.)

Termination of Service

A faculty member who thinks himself aggrieved in matters relating to academic freedom or tenure shall make representation to the Dean of Academic Affairs. If he thinks he does not receive redress of his grievance, he may appeal to the president. If he still thinks he has not received a proper settlement of his complaint, he should state this in writing to the president who will then arrange for the full professors to elect a committee of five to hear the faculty member and the president and make recommendations to the Board of Trustees.

If the Board, as advised by the president, does not reappoint a full-time teacher or staff member who does not have continuous appointment, the president shall notify him in keeping with the guidelines as set forth by the American Association of University Professors.

Notice of nonreappointment, or of intention not to recommend reappointment to the governing board, should be given in writing in accordance with the following standards:

1. No later than March 1 of the first academic year of service, if the appointment expires at the end of that year; or, if a one-year appointment terminates during an academic year, at least three months in advance of its termination.

2. Not later than December 15 of the second academic year of service, if the appointment expires at the end of that year; or, if an initial two-year appointment terminates during an academic year, at least six months in advance of its termination.
3. At least twelve months before the expiration of an appointment after two or more years in the institution.

A teacher may be separated from the College by the Board for gross neglect of duty or misconduct or for repudiation or defiance of the standards and the teachings of the Seventh-day Adventist Church.

When the president has decided to recommend separation, he shall notify the teacher in writing of the reason(s) and of the basis for the reason(s). After an interval of at least ten days, the teacher shall be given a hearing if he requests it before at least two-thirds of the members of the board before separation can be voted. The teacher may appear with a colleague as counsel, who also shall have the privilege of speaking before the board.

A teacher with continuous appointment who is relieved of his employment with the College for reasons not involving gross neglect of duty or misconduct or repudiation or defiance of the standards and the teachings of the Seventh-day Adventist Church, shall receive full salary and all regular allowances, refunds, etc., for twelve months from the day of notification of separation.

A faculty member may terminate his services by resignation, which should usually become effective at the end of a school term. Notice of resignation should be given in writing prior to the annual spring Board meeting.

A teacher may not engage in remunerative work outside the College except in understanding with and permission from the president and the dean of the school of which the teacher is a member.

Two Methods of Remuneration

It is recognized that there are two approved methods of remuneration of workers, namely:

1. The basic salary plus specific identifiable allowances paid separately, which is designated the "basic salary plan."
2. The basic salary plus an amount to cover the specific allowances, paid in one combined payment (salary and allowances), which is designated the "package plan."

Where the "package plan" of remuneration is used, the combined total of specific allowances as authorized by the General Conference Working Policy is designated as "living allowances," for the purpose of brevity.

Where the "package plan" of remuneration is used, a "living allowance" may be granted.

The "living allowance" as used in the "package plan" of remuneration does not ordinarily include assistance on the following items:

Medical expense and medical insurance
Scholarship grants to dependents of workers
Special administrative and executive area travel allowance
Reimbursed travel

"Head of family" is defined to mean a worker with one or more dependents who are members of the immediate family. Dependents who are members of the immediate family are defined as wife or husband and/or unmarried dependent children who are not in regular employment.

In a case where a worker who being "head of family" is left alone at the death of his spouse, the survivor may continue to receive the "head of family" living allowance, if so authorized by the controlling committee.

It is the responsibility of the union conference committee (or General Conference committee for General Conference institutions), to determine:

1. Whether the "package plan" of remuneration is to be used by the denominational organizations under its jurisdiction, and to indicate the specific organization or group of workers to which it may apply.
2. The actual amount of the "living allowance" for organizations authorized to use the "package plan" of remuneration within its territory, and to work out the relationship of the "living allowance" to the salary percentage levels in the various categories, it being understood that the amount of the "living allowance" shall not exceed the maximums set forth.

Medical Expense Assistance —North America

"Workers, including missionaries on furlough or permanently returned to North America, having medical and/or dental and/or optical and/or hearing aid and/or obstetrical expense may be allowed 75 percent of such expense; such allowance to be made only on receipted medical bills for which the worker has actually made payment. Assistance on the purchase of pharmaceuticals, including vitamins, reported on medical allowance sheets shall be allowed only if purchased on a physician's prescription or with a physician's written order in the case of nonprescription number of other identifying marks. Assistance as provided for above may also apply on the expense of medical and orthopedic appliances when prescribed by a qualified physician."

Funeral Allowance Policy

A funeral allowance of $350 may be granted in the case of the death of a worker or his dependent when other provision for such expense has not been made.

Revision of Medical Assistance Policy To Cover "Medicare" Fee Payment

"A beneficiary having medical and/or dental and/or optical and/or hearing aid expense may receive assistance on such expense in an amount equivalent to three-fourths of such expense. In cases requiring hospitalization this provision applies to temporary hospitalization when ordered by an attending physician. When conditions develop that make it necessary for a beneficiary to be hospitalized over an extended period, arrangements should be made with the Sustentation Committee if assistance is to be requested on the hospital bill. In the United States the Sustentation Fund will pay the Social Security Administration 'Medicare' fee for medical coverage. Medical assistance shall not apply to any of the covered expenses which the member is not required to pay, or for which reimbursement is received, under the Hospital Insurance and/or Medical Insurance programs of 'Medicare.' "

Travel Allowances

Workers away from home on authorized travel may report the following:

1. Cost of hotel and/or motel accommodation.
2. Fixed travel allowance of $6.00 daily, except where a worker is fully entertained, the daily allowance is $1.50.
3. When missionary families are on authorized trips, the daily travel allowance for husband and wife when traveling together is $8.00; for each accompanying child, $1.50; and for each child traveling alone, $3.50.

Workmen's Compensation Insurance

The following is the basis of accident and/or workmen's compensation insurance adjustments to workers who are covered by insurance policies, the premiums on which have been paid by the employing organization.

1. a. In making the adjustment, it is recognized that it is the right of the worker or his beneficiary to receive the full amount of insurance settlement granted by the insurance company covering death or permanent disability.
- b. From those portions of the insurance settlement covering salary and medical expense, the worker shall at the time of insurance settlement first reimburse his employing organization for the money advanced for salary and medical expense during the worker's illness.
- c. Should the amount granted as salary by the insurance company during the period of illness be less than the denominational salary for that same period, the employing organization shall reimburse the worker up to denominational salary for the period during which the employing organization is responsible for the payment of salary.
- d. The portion of medical expenses not covered by the insurance settlement shall be subject to application of the regular medical policy.
- e. Should the worker receive from the insurance settlement for a salary and medical expense more than the employing organization has advanced for said items, he shall refund to the employing organization only the amount originally advanced by that organization.

- f. It is understood that this basis of settlement does not affect any additional insurance policies which the worker carries for which he has paid the premiums.
2. If a worker elects to take additional accident insurance coverage under the policy provided by his employing organization and the worker carries the increased premium expense, the additional benefits of the policy covered by the added premium shall accrue to the benefit of the worker personally.
3. Where the worker and the employing organization may share in the basic premium of an accident insurance policy, the foregoing provisions shall apply but on the same percentage basis as the premium cost is divided, except that death or permanent disability portions of such settlements shall accrue in full to the individual worker or his beneficiary.

Retirement

The board has set up no retirement age. Staff members are subject to retirement when advancing age or failing health indicates an impairment of teaching efficiency. While no compulsory retirement age is fixed, but is determined individually for each staff member by the Board of Trustees, it ordinarily occurs between the ages of sixty-five and seventy, depending upon the general health and efficiency of the staff member. When a staff member reaches the age of sixty-five, generally, he is relieved of any departmental or divisional administrative post which he may hold. It is generally considered that a staff member may elect to retire on sustentation, or the College may recommend him for sustentation at the age of sixty-five, or he may elect or be recommended to sustentation at the age of sixty, and in the case of a man he must also have given thirty-two years of service to the cause. Temporary or permanent retirement may be arranged in case of prolonged illness or other causes. Retirement is provided according to the General Conference Sustentation plan as given in the Working Policy. Retired staff members who have been in the continuous employ of the Adventist Church for not less than fifteen years are eligible for benefits under the "Sustentation Plan" officially authorized by the General Conference of Seventh-day Adventists.

The provisions of this plan include retirement allowance for non-academic as well as academic employees, widows, and minor children. No contributions are made by employees to this fund, but the integrity of the plan is assured by payments of percentages of payrolls by all Seventh-day Adventist institutions and organizations.

Sustentation Rates

The family rate of workers eligible for sustentation shall be 24% of the regular 100% salary level for fifteen years of service, and for each year of service from fifteen to forty there shall be added 1.6 of the 100% salary level, making a maximum of 64% of the regular 100% salary level for forty or more years of service. In the case of applicants who have rendered service in the Hinsdale Sanitarium 0.8% of the 100% salary level shall be deducted for each year of service at the Hinsdale Sanitarium prior to 1932.

In computing sustentation rates on the revised basis no existing rates are to be reduced. (Note: As the 100 percent salary level is adjusted upward in succeeding salary increases, existing minimum sustentation rates will then come within the limits of the revised basis for computing sustentation rates.)

An increase of from 10 to 35 percent to the monthly sustentation rate may be granted to beneficiaries who for a considerable length of time have borne major responsibility in field or institutional leadership, such percentage to be governed by the weight and duration of responsibility carried, and other similar factors. The widow of such a worker shall be entitled to this percentage increase in proportion to the number of years she shared in her husband's service, whether or not he was receiving sustentation at the time of decease. However, the widow shall not receive more than three-fourths of the amount that would have been received were her husband living and on the sustentation fund. Increases may be granted by the Sustentation Committee only upon the recommendation of General, division, or union committees, or managing boards of interunion or General institutions.

Widows of workers shall receive the single rate; widows with one or more dependent children may not receive less than the minimum single rate for 15 years of service plus child allowance.

Holidays, Leaves and Vacations

Offices will be closed, except in cases of emergency, on the following legal holidays: Labor Day, Thanksgiving Day, Christmas Day, New Year's Day, Washington's Birthday, Memorial Day and Independence Day.

Therefore all administrative officers should be on duty in their offices between Quarters. Faculty and staff are expected to be available for duty between Quarters. It would be expected that during this period faculty and staff would be available for committee work and chaperonage. In addition, time could be profitably spent in the preparation of course outlines and reference lists which should be available for students at the beginning of each Quarter.

Denominational workers are entitled to an annual vacation of two weeks under ordinary circumstances. Those who have accumulated fifteen years of full-time service are entitled to an annual vacation of three weeks.

Persons of the secretarial staffs are legally entitled to vacation with pay only after one full year of service has been completed. All such persons are entitled to two weeks vacation for each full year of service. Legal holidays are not included in calculating vacation time.

Vacation leave shall be taken by the employee during the year in which it is accrued and prior to the next recurrence of the anniversary date of his employment.

All College employees should submit their vacation requests in writing prior to the beginning of the Spring Quarter of each year. Faculty, administrators, and residence deans shall submit their requests to the President. Staff employees shall submit their requests to the Business Manager. Normally, vacations will only be approved during the months of June through August.

Vacations should be arranged at such times as to disrupt the program of the College as little as possible.

All residence deans are entitled to one weekend leave each month. All residence deans should be on duty between Quarters.

Sick Leaves

1. Sick leave is not to be granted to an employee in any instance except in case of serious illness of the employee or his immediate family.
2. Each employee shall be allowed one working day of sick leave for each month worked during the year. (Example—a nine-month employee may earn nine days sick leave a school year; a twelve-month employee may earn twelve days sick leave.)
3. Sick leave is not accumulative from year to year.
4. If an employee resigns or is dismissed, he loses all accumulated sick leave.
5. An employee is eligible for sick leave pay who has been in the employment of the college for a period of twelve (12) months.

In-service Improvement

For the in-service improvement of its faculty members, Oakwood College provides:

1. Leaves for graduate study, or adjusted teaching loads if the study is to be pursued on campus.
2. Payment of membership dues in learned societies for heads of academic departments and such others as the Board may designate.
3. The payment of traveling and other authorized expenses to meetings of professional groups within the limits of Board policies.

The college provides for graduate study for teachers of proven competence in subject areas where advanced degrees will be of benefit to the college. The college follows the plan described in the denominational Working Policy for granting leaves for study and giving financial assistance to the teacher. By Board action a teacher may be authorized to take leave for graduate study with full salary plus tuition or traveling expenses, whichever is greater. Time so employed is counted on the service record of the teacher.

The college sets up an annual budget for teacher travel to professional meetings. While primary emphasis is given to those meetings which are arranged by the educational organizations of the denomination, other national or regional professional meetings in the teacher's field of specialization are not to be neglected.

In-service Training Assistance

1. Teachers shall receive financial assistance during leave-of-absence

- attendance at a Seventh-day Adventist college in harmony with the union conference policies.
2. Scholarships may be provided for teachers on leave to advance their education, for teachers attending summer sessions, and for supervisory teachers in college demonstration schools in securing advanced degrees.
  3. A college teacher who is recommended by the Board for leave of absence for a period of twelve months for advanced study shall receive as a maximum allowance, for which a written agreement shall be entered into, covering (a) full salary, (b) tuition or travel expenses, whichever is greater, and (c) a monthly rental allowance. The entire amount for a calendar year of authorized study shall be amortized at the rate of 20 percent for each year of service following the leave. Upon completion of each quarter's work, the staff member should turn in to the Business office his tuition card and rental receipts. Allowance for leaves for study longer than one calendar year shall be amortized by proportionately extended periods of service. In case a call is placed before the allowance for leave of absence is amortized, the amount uncared for shall be assumed by the calling institution.
  4. Teachers who receive financial aid for advanced training will be required to sign contracts. For each summer or quarter of study the cost of this training will be prorated over a period of one year.
  5. A denominational worker is ordinarily not obliged to pay as rent, exclusive of furnishings, heat, gas, light, and water, more than 10% of his salary on the wage scale adopted by the General Conference. Where it is found necessary, denominational organizations may grant employees an allowance to assist in meeting excessive rent expense on the accommodation in counsel with his employing committee.

Calls from One School to Another

In order to avoid friction and the unsettling of workers, those who are seeking for workers shall conscientiously avoid making offers to, or entering into any arrangements whatsoever with, individuals who are employed or who may be under obligation for employment, with reference to their entering any particular line or field of work.

Men in responsible positions shall be free to make inquiry from officers of institutions or organizations employing workers for whose services they are thinking of asking.

Calls for individuals desired may be made in the regular way, as follows:

1. Within a union conference, interchange of laborers between local conferences or institutions shall be made through the union conference.
2. The union conference desiring a worker from a sister union shall request the General Conference or division committee to secure the release of such worker.
3. In no case shall the call be made to the individual, but through the union and local conference or institution in which he is laboring.

4. It is to be understood that these regulations governing transfers among organizations in no wise preclude the right of the individual worker to make known his desire or burden to arrange a change of field.
5. No institution or conference shall employ a worker until he is properly released from the institution or conference by which he has been employed.
6. An organization placing a call with the General Conference for a teacher or any salaried worker employed in one of our schools after July 1 of each year shall first obtain the consent of the organization employing such worker.

Institutional workers carrying major responsibilities should not be dropped from employment without effort being made to provide for their employment elsewhere or in other lines of work, on the same basis that governs the transfer of all conference workers.

In the case of those who voluntarily withdraw from the organized work, the denomination is under no obligation to return the individual to a former location.

A teacher upon election, or promotion to head of a department, or division or dean in the college in which he is currently employed, cannot be called before the completion of five years of service unless it shall be agreed upon by the college boards involved.

Leave — Periodic

Purpose

Periodic leave is granted for the purpose of scholarly study, research, travel, or other activity of value to the institution and the individual.

Eligibility

A member of the faculty who has served for at least one year as assistant, associate, or full professor, who has taken graduate work beyond the Master's degree, and who has served the institution for not less than six consecutive years, may be eligible to apply for a periodic leave of absence. He is not, however, eligible if during the six-year period he has been granted in-service training assistance, advanced education assistance, or leave of absence for personal reasons.

Extend and Procedure

Periodic leave occurs only during the summer. It is not cumulative. It may be postponed for a further year without loss to the faculty member.

In making a request for a leave, the applicant specifies the time for which leave is requested and the educational project or research or other activity which is to occupy his attention during the leave.

An application for leave is made to the President at least one quarter before the period of leave so as to give ample time to provide a substitute. Board action is required in granting such a request.

Remuneration and Obligation

Ordinarily, a full salary is allowed during the period of leave. At the option of the Board an allowance may be granted to help cover such expense for travel, research, secretarial help, etc., as may be involved in the type of work to be undertaken during the leave.

The applicant agrees to consider himself under obligation to serve the institution for a minimum of one year following the leave. Should he be invited to another institution before completing this one year's service, he will accept only on the condition that the calling institution agrees to reimburse the College for the cost of his periodic leave.

A written report on the activities and research of the individual should be presented to the President's office before the end of September.

SUPERINTENDENTS OF INDUSTRIAL AND AUXILIARY SERVICES

The auxiliary and industrial superintendents are the following: heads, managers, directors of the school cafeteria, college store, laundry, bakery, dairy, farm, maintenance, and the book store.

The Objectives of the Auxiliary Campus Services

The objectives of the campus industries are threefold: First, to develop the physical side of the student and thus enhance his bodily vigor and consequently the mind; secondly, to let him ever keep in mind that work, no matter of what type, is noble as long as it is honorable, and thirdly, to enable him when he leaves the campus to have some knowledge of a line of work which may be financially useful to him; and finally, to enable him to stay in school while he dreams of the future when he can go out into the world to serve God and his fellowmen.

Relation of the Auxiliary Services to Instruction

Work with the hand is definitely related to work with the mind. Physical labor invigorates the body while mental exercises vitalize the mental faculties. As the student cuts grass on the campus, or digs into the soil and watches seeds grow, or works in the laundry, he can by the law of association of ideas see in Nature the handiwork of God.

All the other facts of classroom instruction—order, development, the laws of selection, economy, variety, effectiveness, and the like may be applied to his work; and gradually and almost imperceptibly he learns that work with the hands can be a thing of beauty.

Responsibilities and Duties of the Work Supervisors

The responsibilities and duties of the work supervisors are as follows:

1. To select student and non-student employees in counsel with the business manager.

V. GENERAL INFORMATION

GENERAL INFORMATION

In order to give information and guidance to members of the faculty and workers, the following policies and practices are given here.

Absence from Class—Faculty

Absence from regularly scheduled class or examination sessions requires specific approval of the department chairman, and the Dean of Academic Affairs. These shall be reviewed each year by the President with the Dean of Academic Affairs and the Divisional Chairman as part of the annual reports.

Faculty members requesting absence authorization bear the responsibility of providing for the class. It is most desirable to have the class taught by the colleague who can best provide continuity. It is unadvisable to leave the class in charge of an undergraduate student.

Absence Explanations

Explanation blanks for class absences due to illnesses or other emergencies are presented to the teacher not later than the second class meeting following the absence and only after having the approval of the dean of men (for men) and the dean of women (for women). These blanks are necessary to authorize the instructor to permit the student to make up tests or other assignments missed because of the absence.

Absences, Repeated

Cases of repeated absences (ordinarily when a student misses two or more class periods in succession) are reported to the dean of men (for men) or to the dean of women (for women). These officers will get in touch with the student's counselor in an effort to solve the problem. If necessary, a report will be made to the Dean of Academic Affairs.

Attendance

Teachers are not to enroll any student in any class until they have received proper class cards for that student. No student is to be permitted to remain in a class unless the instructor has received a class card for him. Class cards for which there is no corresponding class member must be returned to the office of the registrar.

Students absent from any class period for more than ten minutes at the beginning, at the close, or anywhere in the period, are to be marked absent.

Classes are not to be dismissed before the bell.

Absence penalties are doubled two days before, and two days after vacation periods.

Students may be kept out of classes by members of the college staff only in cases of great necessity. In such cases the teachers whose classes the student will miss should be notified at least one day before the absence is to occur. In no cases are students to be kept out on a day when an examination is scheduled.

A student is allowed as many absences from a course as the course has credit hours. These absences do not apply to vacation periods.

Students on the Dean's List may be allowed absence privileges when the reason presented is acceptable to the instructor and the dean.

Audio-visual Service

A large supply of catalogs for Audio-visual Aid films of various kinds is available for perusal in the W. H. Green Memorial Library. Films for classroom use may be ordered through the chairman of the Audio-visual Service, who is in charge of all visual aid materials. Arrangements for the use of projectors should be made three days in advance with the Dean of Academic Affairs.

Bills, Payment of

All bills are to be paid at the accounting office for purchases made for credit in the following departments: store, dairy, bakery, and laundry. An itemized bill will be sent at the end of each month.

Chaperonage

For mixed-group parties, tours, and other activities such as hikes, picnics, riding off the campus, lectures, and concerts, a chaperon should be secured for the group before the request is presented for the activities. Requests should be presented to the Social Activities Committee and the deans of the homes for approval twenty-four hours in advance.

Chaperons chosen must be approved by the dean of women. Good form demands that the chaperon be treated as a guest, and the fare, admission tickets, or other expenses should be borne by the student. Courtesy requires that immediate cheerful response be given to suggestions made by the chaperon in regard to conduct, hour of departure, and other needful suggestions.

The chaperons have the responsibility of being informed of all preliminary arrangements, of making certain that they are definite and explicit, and of meeting the group at the place designated. Chaperons are expected to handle emergencies and deal with irregularities and to return the group at the hour planned.

Class Absence Records

The record of daily class and laboratory attendance is kept by each instructor in each class. Each absence will be expected automatically to reduce the student's grasp of the subject material and proportionately to lower his mark or grade in the course. The responsibility rests with the teacher for keeping a true class attendance record and making out grades in relation thereto.

Three tardinesses are considered one absence.

All teachers are requested to be present and on time at the meetings of the faculty.

Class Accessories and Office Supplies

Requisitions for classroom accessories and office supplies should be submitted (by the chairman of the division) to the Business Office for approval, and there directed to the proper place for the issuing of such, based on provisions for such items in the budget.

Class Attendance and Grade Reports

These reports represent the scholastic achievement of the student in his class according to the judgment of the instructor. The class instructor bears the sole responsibility for the evaluation of each student, and no one else is authorized to alter his marks or credit hours allowed.

Class Changes

If a change of time, room, or instructor is necessary after the schedule has been published, it will be necessary to have the approval of the department chairman, and an appropriate form must be completed and submitted to the Director of Admissions and Records.

Class Tardiness

It is expected that all faculty members will meet their schedule of classes promptly. If circumstances should cause one to be unable to meet a class appointment as scheduled, he should notify his department chairman so that the class will be attended until his arrival.

College Center

The College Center is the "living room" of the campus. In the building are facilities and services of a cafeteria, a bookstore, a students' lounge, a teachers' lounge, meeting rooms, and administrative offices. Additional facilities include student association offices, a ping-pong room, a shuffleboard court, and a snack area.

Requests for rooms, catering service, special dinners, etc., should be submitted to the Office of the Dean of Students at least two weeks in advance.

Commencement

All faculty members are required to attend the baccalaureate and commencement exercises in academic regalia. Caps, gowns, and hoods will be purchased or rented at the College Bookstore.

Committees

Copies of the minutes of all meetings of faculty committees are to be sent to the office of the Director of Admissions and Records.

All faculty committees are asked to have a regular time and place of meeting, and to notify the administration of the time and place.

Debt and Work

Students who owe the school and do not have cash with which to pay their bills are not to decrease their work-load hour programs and are to live up to the terms of their work contract.

Any student who refuses to work or who fails to carry out the terms of his contract will be given one notice of deficiency. On the second notice the student is expected to appear before the Director of Student Financial Aids before continuance in school is permitted.

Deficiencies

Students who earn a grade of "D" in their major or minor fields are to repeat the course unless the instructor sends a written recommendation to the registrar stating that other make-up work will be acceptable.

Students in the college who have "I" or "F" grades standing against them are not to be called away from the homes during the evening study period for any co-curricular activities and may be called for work only in emergencies, in which case the superintendent asking for the student must make a personal request.

Degrees

There shall be two kinds of degrees which may be granted by a vote of the Board of Trustees, namely:

- (1) Degrees in Course: Degrees in course may be granted to those persons who have completed satisfactorily the courses leading to degrees in the college and have been duly recommended by the faculty of the college for the respective degrees.
- (2) Honorary Degrees: Honorary degrees may be granted by vote of the Trustees to persons who shall be deemed by them to be worthy of such distinction. Nominations may be made in writing by the faculty to the Board of Trustees who shall vote upon the nominations. Negative votes on the part of one-third of the members of the faculty voting shall be cause for rejection of any candidate. No degree shall be conferred except upon a vote of the Board of Trustees in regular session.

If the candidate is elected, he shall be invited to receive his degree at the commencement next ensuing or at a special convocation provided that he shall attend in person to secure the degree at the time and place set for its conferring.

Emergency Arrangements

In the absence of the President, emergency decisions which cannot await his return shall be the responsibility of the Dean of Academic Affairs; in the event of his absence also, the Dean of Students; in the event of his absence also, the Business Manager.

There are four broad categories of "emergency":

1. Physical plant breakdown with reference to fire, electrical, plumbing or heating failures or the like.
2. Weather developments of which snow, tornado, and the like are illustrations.
3. Student unrest or irregular behavior.
4. National, state, or local disaster of which war, bombing, Presidential assassination, national hysteria or other would be illustrative.
  - (1) For physical plant or mechanical breakdown the prime responsible area is business. In this instance the chain of authority is:
Business Manager
Superintendent of the Physical Plant
Supervisor of Service Area
Craftsman
  - (2) In matters of weather or similar development leading to the possibility of suspension of classes the responsible area of Administration is academic. In this instance the chain of authority is:
Dean of Academic Affairs
Dean of Student Affairs
Business Manager
  - (3) On student unrest or mass irregular behavior, the line of authority is:
Dean of Student Affairs
Dean of Academic Affairs
College Residence Dean of Men
Business Manager
  - (4) In matters of national, state, or local disaster, the Business Manager shall confer with appropriate national, state or local officials in order to advise the President on the participation of the College.

Equipment, Securing

Submit equipment requests to the business office during the first week in February of each year. Equipment purchases are to be voted by the Board.

All teachers are asked to file copies of all quarter examinations to the dean's office, the office of the department head, and the office of the chairman of the division concerned.

On examination days, the teacher may allow individuals to leave after writing the examinations but should caution the student to disturb no one and to leave the halls clear. For quarter examinations, all students are to be kept in the examination room at least one hour and a half.

No examinations for which students have to make preparation in addition to regular study time are to be given during weeks of prayer.

The faculty disapproves of meetings of the campus clubs or of functions sponsored by the clubs, on weekends preceding quarter examinations or mid-term examinations.

Faculty Gift Fund

To provide funds for gifts of flowers and cards for the sick and farewell gifts to staff members who permanently leave the institution, a yearly assessment of three dollars ($3.00) is made for each faculty and staff member. Whatever extra amounts are needed for these purposes and for the annual faculty-senior banquet are prorated in June of each year.

Field Trips

Field trips are recognized as a valuable supplement to classroom activities. However, it must also be recognized that, like any useful device, such a practice can be overworked and this seriously interferes with the student's academic success.

A faculty member who contemplates taking students on a field trip should complete the following steps in sequence:

1. Obtain field trip form from his department head or academic dean. When serving as a sponsor to a student club or organization, consult the Dean of Student Affairs.
2. a. When the trip is directly related to instruction in a particular class, secure approval of the department chairman, present written requests for authorization, noting destination, date and hours of departure and return, means of transportation and names of students involved.
b. When the trip is an activity of a student organization, secure the approval of the Dean of Student Affairs. The sponsor should assure himself of the competence and insurance coverage of all whose cars are used for such trips.
3. If participating students will be absent from other classes, a field trip notice is necessary for each student participant. The faculty sponsor shall see that each student present the form to each of his instructors for initialing and indication of whether the absence would seriously handicap the student in his course.
4. Students leaving the campus or missing classes because of college-sponsored events (choral groups, etc.) will bring similar forms from the sponsoring departments. Any student who has a current average of less than "C" will not be authorized to travel until after a conference with the faculty member concerned.
5. The faculty and staff shall be notified at least one week in advance.

Grades

Grades are due in the Director of Admissions' office not later than noon on the third day after the period and/or the quarter examinations have been administered.

In case a student has "Incomplete," the teacher must give on the reverse side of the grade sheet a statement of the specific requirements which the student must meet for the removal of the "Incomplete." In rare cases, the teacher will be allowed to give the student a grade above "C" if he has received the "Incomplete" because of (1) illness, (2) death, or (3) because of a "real emergency."

The grade "F" is final for the period or quarter in which it is received and should never be changed for another grade.

Grade Reports

The official plan of the admissions office is that grade reports at the end of the quarter be complete and ready for the students and parents ten days after the end of the examination period. In order to achieve this, teachers are required to turn in the complete list of grades for all their classes within three days after the end of the examination period. The delinquency of a single teacher in meeting the deadline is sufficient to undermine this program. During this period when examinations are being scored and reports prepared for the registrar, no other task should take precedence in the teacher's program.

Grading of Work

Periodically. The labor rate will be based on the following vocational traits:

- |                    |                  |                      |
|--------------------|------------------|----------------------|
| 1. Accuracy        | 5. Dependability | 9. Intelligence      |
| 2. Attendance      | 6. Efficiency    | 10. Interest in work |
| 3. Cooperativeness | 7. Honesty       | 11. Judgment         |
| 4. Courtesy        | 8. Initiative    | 12. Skill and speed  |

The student contract reads as follows: "I shall render faithful service until the close of the school year or as long as my employer shall need me. I understand that should I absent myself from work without making proper arrangements with my employer, or be repeatedly tardy, I forfeit my privilege of working in the assigned department."

Gymnasium

The gymnasium should be closed during all regularly scheduled events in the college auditorium.

Health Service

For minor medical care, staff members and their families have the same health privileges as students. This includes such first aid as can be administered by the college nurse, and minor treatments at the medical office during the regular hours, as well as the purchase of medications at reduced prices. For these services a nominal charge is made, as well as for house calls by the college nurse.

Hours—Administrative Offices

The hours during which the Administrative Offices shall be opened are 8:00 a.m. until 5:00 p.m., Monday through Thursday; 8:00 a.m. to 12 noon, Sunday and Friday.

Housing for Students

Single students shall be required to live in the college residence halls unless special permission is given by the Administrative Council, after consultation with the Dean of Student Affairs and the Dean of Academic Affairs. One of the following situations shall govern a student's living in the community: (a) he shall reside in the home of a near relative (parent, grandparent, aunt, uncle, brother, or sister); (b) he shall reside in the home of a faculty or staff member; and (c) he shall reside in an approved home.

Ingathering

Faculty and students should cooperate fully in the promotion of this campaign.

Moving Expense

Moving and traveling expense allowance shall be granted incoming employees to include the following:

1. Married employee: Cost of moving household and personal effects by a College-approved carrier, the gross weight not to exceed 9,000 pounds.

Single employee: Moving allowance shall be negotiated.

2. Air travel: Air coach fares for the employee and the dependent members of his family, on a reimbursed basis, from previous location to the College by the most direct route.

Automobile travel: A mileage allowance of 7 cents per mile and actual motel costs, on a reimbursed basis, for the days en route. A per diem allowance to cover food and incidentals of $8.00 for a family plus $1.25 per child, or $6.00 for a single person, for the days en route. (Note: A day's automobile travel shall be considered to be a minimum of 450 miles.)

3. These allowances shall be amortized at a minimum of $400 per year over a maximum of three years. If the employee terminates before the allowance has been amortized, reimbursement shall be required on a prorated basis not to exceed three years.
4. If the employee is transferring from another denominational organization, an additional allowance of $50 shall be granted.

Off-Campus Program Participation

All proposed off-the-campus participation by students of the college is to be submitted in writing and in triplicate, for approval, two days before the date of leaving. The request should include the following: the date the request is made, the names of the students involved, the destination, the time of leaving the campus and the time of returning, the chaperon (if necessary), the method of transportation (car and name of owner of the car, train, or bus), signatures of the dean of the home first, then of the work supervisor, and finally of the president, and/or dean of the college.

Office and Classroom Assignments

Every effort is made to provide suitable office facilities for all regular teachers. The office assignments are made by the president upon the recommendation of the college dean. The classroom schedule is prepared by the Director of Admissions. If for any reason a classroom assignment is unsatisfactory, this fact should be reported immediately.

Office Hours

Each faculty member is requested to have stated office hours published on the outer door of his office. Instructors should notify the Academic Dean and each class of these hours when they are available for conferences. It is recommended that instructors allow for a minimum of ten hours a week in their offices for conferences.

Ordering Books

All books are to be ordered through the Book Store. The teacher should be sure that the students will buy the number of books that they order. THERE SHOULD BE NO OVER ORDERS. If a desk copy is desired, indicate such on the order blank to the store.

Ordering Films

All films for recreational purposes should be ordered through the business office on official purchase orders. In this way, prompt payment of all accounts will be assured. This procedure applies to all classroom materials ordered for which there will be a charge.

Outside Employment

It is believed that a full-time faculty member cannot do justice to his duties and responsibilities at the College and simultaneously carry on extensively in other employment. Part-time employment not in excess of six hours a week, while not encouraged, will not be regarded with disfavor. Before such service is undertaken, faculty members should discuss details with the President in order that proper arrangements may be made with the Academic Dean and the appropriate department chairman.

In no case should such arrangements interfere with the person's schedule of classes, committee work, chaperonage, or any other campus event where his assistance may be needed to coordinate the program.

Parties, Picnics, and Breakfasts

A list of guests invited to social functions sponsored by the staff members should be submitted in triplicate to the deans of the residence halls and the president of the college twenty-four hours before the event. These lists should be signed by the chairman of the Social Activities Committee, the deans of the homes, and the president of the college.

Personnel Data

Each teacher is asked to keep a record on individual cards of all personnel work performed for any student whether the student is the teacher's counselee or not. Reports of any anecdotal material dealing with conduct, health, and the like should be made in writing. (Oral reports are not satisfactory.) Each teacher should give to the student's counselor any pertinent information which will aid in the counseling program.

Program Expenditures

All expenditures of the college funds for programs, on or off the campus, must have the approval of the Business Manager.

Record Books

On the day preceding the registration period, each teacher will procure his record book from the Admissions Office.

Record books should be turned into the Admissions Office with all grade records within forty-eight hours after the graduation exercises.

In the record books should be listed the names of every student in each class, a performance record for each student. At the end of every section in the record book there is a designated place for the daily average, examination grade, and report card or final grade. At the top of each page in the record book, there is space for Distribution. Each teacher should fill in the appropriate spaces at the periods designated. A faithful attendance of each student should be kept in the record book.

Recreation

One evening per week of games or skating is arranged for staff members and their wives at the recreation room.

On the average of once each month during the academic year, the staff meets informally at a social gathering sponsored by the Social Activities Committee.

Religious Obligations: Attendance at Religious Services and Church Membership

As a religious college, Oakwood makes every effort to place spiritual living in its proper place in all activities. In order to achieve this, it expects that all faculty and staff members will cooperate by faithful attendance at the weekend church services and at assembly exercises. A loyal member of the faculty and staff will set a good example to the students in this as well as in other matters. Staff members should hold their membership at the Oakwood College Church.

Reports to the Office of the Dean of Student Affairs

All campus organizations must file typewritten copies of their constitutions in the office of the Dean of Student Affairs; present officers' lists and report changes of officers to the dean; have at least one sponsor who is a bona fide faculty member; and permit the auditing of all accounts by the manager of the college, at the direction of the latter.

Social Gatherings

Sponsors of campus organizations are asked to see that no public announcement of social gatherings of the organizations are made before the Activities Committee has placed the event on the calendar and approved the time.

Solicitation

The solicitation of gifts shall be limited to persons authorized to solicit by the Administrative Council.

Speakers

A college is a forum for the scrutiny and exchange of ideas. Therefore, Oakwood College encourages its faculty and student organizations to invite speakers to the campus. Limitations upon speakers' appearances are warranted only in order to preserve an organized society in which peaceful, democratic means for the discussion and examination of ideas are available.

Speakers from off campus are invited to appear on the campus under a variety of circumstances. The following is not intended to restrict this privilege, but simply to indicate the procedure to be followed under differing circumstances.

Invitations to speakers to appear in regularly scheduled classes should first be cleared with the department chairman who will inform the Dean of Academic Affairs when advisable. It is the responsibility of the instructor to demonstrate that the material to be presented is germane to the content of the course and that the speaker has a legitimate claim to the use of the classroom as a platform.

Invitations to speakers to appear at open meetings shall be approved by the President before they are extended. It is the responsibility of the person or group extending an invitation to a speaker to further check with the Office of the Dean of Student Affairs to assure orderly calendaring.

The speaker must not urge or incite the audience to take action which violates college regulations, federal, state, or local law. It is the responsibility of groups or individuals sponsoring speakers to inform them of these prohibitions.

Speakers, rather than the College, are responsible for the views they express.

Sponsors

The responsibilities and duties of sponsors of student organizations are as follows:

1. To teach the students the principles of parliamentary procedure.
2. To train the students through the activities of the organization to be good leaders as well as followers.
3. To cooperate with other student organizations in promoting the general campus-wide program of the college.

4. To be available for counsel and assistance without impairing the students' ability to think for themselves.
5. To be present at the regular meetings of the organizations.
6. To plan wholesome, constructive activities for and with the members of the organization, and to present an outline of that plan for the year to the office of the Dean of Student Affairs no later than November 1 of each year.
7. To promote better faculty-student relationship by entertaining students if possible in his home.
8. To submit to the administration the time scheduled for meetings.
9. To submit, in quadruplicate, to the Dean of Student Affairs the constitution of the organization. (One copy is for the President, one for the Dean of Academic Affairs, one for the library, and one for the Dean of Student Affairs.)
10. To emphasize in the program of the organization the philosophy and objectives of the college.
11. To meet with the Dean of Student Affairs in concert with all other organizational sponsors at the beginning of the year to discuss the role and function of sponsorship.

Standards of Dress

The Seventh-day Adventist denomination believes that the Bible requires of Christians to clothe themselves modestly and to refrain from expensive, ostentatious dress and adornment. Every effort is made to insure that only good Christian men and women whose belief and practices in this matter are in harmony with this Biblical principle are elected to the faculty and staff. Cooperation in this area is expected from all, including families.

Student Committees

No student committees are to be called to meet during the evening study period unless the students concerned have a "B" average and unless previous arrangements have been made with the Administrative Council.

Student Conduct, Code of

The Code of Student Conduct is compiled by a student-faculty committee so that the student may be educated in the Christian amenities of social living. Thus guided by Christian standards of moderation, modesty, and restraint, the student becomes vigorously alert to the Adventist way of life as far as the field of social relations is concerned.

Subsidy and Expense Report Blanks

Subsidy and expense report forms are obtainable at the Business Office.

Syllabi

Each teacher is required to hand in to the Dean's Office a syllabus for each of his classes. This syllabus follows the "Shankel" plan.

Teacher Travel

Whenever staff members make off-campus trips on College business, authorization should first be secured from the President (or, in his absence, the Dean of Academic Affairs) or the Business Manager in advance of the trip. A clear understanding is necessary regarding the means of transportation and the basis of reimbursement. Detailed information regarding expense allowances may be secured from the Business Manager.

Tithe

Workers should not have to be told to pay, or return, the tithe to the Lord. God expects each one to give Him His own.

Participation in the Week of Sacrifice offering by staff members is heartily recommended by the denomination.

Tuition Discount

Education allowance for workers' children are as follows: 60 percent discount on tuition for boarding students and 30 percent discount on tuition for non-boarding students.

Tuition for Teachers

The free tuition privilege of a staff member is limited to one subject.
